Our Vision

A future where Colorado women and girls of every background and identity prosper.

Our Mission

Catalyzing community to advance and accelerate economic opportunities for Colorado women and their families.

Our Core Values

PROMISE: We believe in infinite possibilities. We know all women and girls have the innate potential and power to succeed.

LEADERSHIP: We are willing to take risks in pursuit of our vision. We will lead in harnessing passion to include and amplify the voices of diverse women and girls. We believe that leadership by women and girls in all sectors makes a positive difference in communities and society.

COMMUNITY: We understand that advancing women's economic self-sufficiency is complex, requiring the insights, investments, and commitment of many. We believe that we can achieve more in partnership with others.

LEARNING: We seek to learn from our grantees, strategic partners, and others to inform our research and to identify needs. We believe mutual and continuous learning will not only advance progress toward our vision but also stimulate innovative solutions to issues impacting women and girls.

EQUITY AND INCLUSION: We strive to understand the intersection of identities and to address structural systems of inequity in the pursuit of equity. We believe that deliberately including diverse perspectives in our work and in our decision-making will lead to better results.

STEWARDSHIP AND ACCOUNTABILITY: We act with integrity, look back and look forward on important issues, practice a bias for action, focus on systemic change, and measure our results. We hold ourselves accountable to our mission, our donors, our stakeholders, and the communities we serve.

(WFCO Board and Staff, 2017 Retreat)

Community Action: WFCO's Work in Colorado Springs and Beyond

Since 1987, WFCO has granted more than $16 million and made more than 1,600 grants. In Colorado Springs and El Paso County, local grantees have included Partners in Housing, The Women's Resource Agency, and more. Moving forward, we will focus on holistic grantmaking in helping women achieve a livable wage within 3-5 years and enhance evaluation and learning together to measure outcomes.

Through our volunteer Regional Committees, WFCO brings high quality educational events to community across the state, sharing key research and promoting community conversation. Recent community education events in Colorado Springs include "Gender Equity in Colorado's STEM Industries" which brought community members together to hear from local experts and discuss ways to empower, attract, and retain women in STEM careers.

Working with our partners, The Women's Foundation of Colorado uses our strategic research, collective voice, and statewide network to affect policy and create systemic change for women & girls. We engage annually in public policy by monitoring legislation, sharing research, meeting with legislators and policy partners, and taking positions on bills that have a direct effect on women and their ability to earn a livable wage for themselves and their families.

The Women's Foundation of Colorado was privileged and honored to bring Former First Lady Michelle Obama to Colorado in 2017 for her first public event since leaving the White House. People from across the state, including many from right here in Colorado Springs, came together for an evening of inspiration and hope. In total, we brought more than 8,000 Coloradans together to advance and accelerate economic opportunities for Colorado women and their families and to celebrate the 30th Anniversary of WFCO.
